

Robert D. Edgren

We went to Robert D.Edgren High school on January 8.

At the restaurant

We ate an American lunch. There were many kinds of food and drink, such as Red curry, fried rice, bread, salad, chicken, and so on. We were left with a strong impression by one thing. The thing is American cookies and cakes were much sweeter than I had imagined.

At the High school

When we entered Robert D Edgren High School, we felt as if we were in a foreign country. The smell and atmosphere in Edgren High School were completely different from Japanese smell and atmosphere. The girls and boys that we talked to all looked mature. We were nervous with each other at first, but we became friends with them right away. We talked with them about their winter vacation, Christmas and our uniforms. When we could listen to their words and sentences and we could understand their thought, we were moved. We thought they are teenagers like us even if their nationalities are different from ours.

What we learned from this experience: we cannot be afraid of making mistake!
